

Issue 1 (published February 2008)

- Rajendra S. Rana, Kishor Kumar, Gilles Escarguel, Ashok Sahni, Kenneth D. Rose, Thierry Smith, Hukam Singh, and Lachham Singh
An ailuravine rodent from the lower Eocene Cambay Formation at Vastan, western India, and its palaeobiogeographic implications. 1–14
- Paul C. Sereno and Stephen L. Brusatte
Basal abelisaurid and carcharodontosaurid theropods from the Lower Cretaceous Elrhaz Formation of Niger 15–46
- Pascal Godefroit, Hai Shulin, Yu Tingxiang, and Pascaline Lauters
New hadrosaurid dinosaurs from the uppermost Cretaceous of northeastern China. 47–74
- Ross Damiani
A giant skull of the temnospondyl Xenotosuchus africanus from the Middle Triassic of South Africa and its ontogenetic implications 75–84
- Vachik Hairapetian, Henning Blom, and C. Giles Miller
Silurian thelodonts from the Niur Formation, central Iran 85–95
- Andrzej Kaim, Yoshitsugu Kobayashi, Hiroki Echizenya, Robert G. Jenkins, and Kazushige Tanabe
Chemosynthesis-based associations on Cretaceous plesiosaurid carcasses. 97–104
- Anna Kozłowska and Denis E.B. Bates
Kirkigraptus, a new retiolitid graptolite from Poland 105–112
- Takao Ubukata, Kazushige Tanabe, Yasunari Shigeta, Haruyoshi Maeda, and Royal H. Mapes
Piggyback whorls: A new theoretical morphologic model reveals constructional linkages among morphological characters in ammonoids. 113–128
- Peter Vršanský
New blattarians and a review of dictyopteran assemblages from the Lower Cretaceous of Mongolia. 129–136
- Simon Conway Morris and John S. Peel
The earliest annelids: Lower Cambrian polychaetes from the Sirius Passet Lagerstätte, Peary Land, North Greenland. 137–148
- Lydia Beuck, Max Wisshak, Axel Munnecke, and André Freiwald
A giant boring in a Silurian stromatoporoid analysed by computer tomography 149–160
- Brief reports
- Kuiyan Zhang, Ding Yang, Dong Ren, and Fengchen Ge
New Middle Jurassic tangle-veined flies from Inner Mongolia, China 161–164
- Andre Nel, Didier Neraudeau, Vincent Perrichot, Vincent Girard, and Bernard Gomez
A new dragonfly family from the Upper Cretaceous of France. 165–168

Issue 2 (published June 2008)

- William W. Korth
Cranial morphology, systematics and succession of beavers from the middle Miocene Valentine Formation of Nebraska, USA 169–182
- Hai-Lu You, Kyo Tanoue, and Peter Dodson
New data on cranial anatomy of the ceratopsian dinosaur Psittacosaurus major 183–196
- Jesper Milàn, David B. Loope, and Richard G. Bromley
Crouching theropod and Navahopus sauropodomorph tracks from the Early Jurassic Navajo Sandstone of USA 197–205
- Samuel Zamora and Andrew B. Smith
A new Middle Cambrian stem-group echinoderm from Spain: Palaeobiological implications of a highly asymmetric cinctan 207–220
- Jisuo Jin and Leonid E. Popov
A new genus of Late Ordovician–Early Silurian pentameride brachiopod and its phylogenetic relationships 221–236

Kazem Seyed-Emami, Franz T. Fürsich, Markus Wilmsen, Mahmoud R. Majidifard, and Ali Shekarifard Lower and Middle Jurassic ammonoids of the Shemshak Group in Alborz, Iran and their palaeobiogeographical and biostratigraphical importance.	237–260
Stéphane Reboulet and Anthony Rard Double alignments of ammonoid aptychi from the Lower Cretaceous of Southeast France: Result of a post-mortem transport or bromalites?	261–274
Yutaro Suzuki, Akiyoshi Kondo, and Jan Bergström Morphological requirements in limulid and decapod gills: A case study in deducing the function of lamellipedian exopod lamellae.	275–283
Jianni Liu, Degan Shu, Jian Han, Zhifei Zhang, and Xingliang Zhang The lobopod Onychodictyon from the Lower Cambrian Chengjiang Lagerstätte revisited	285–292
Olof Sandström and Steve Kershaw Palaeobiology, ecology, and distribution of stromatoporoid faunas in biostromes of the mid-Ludlow of Gotland, Sweden.	293–302
György Less and Ercan Özcan The late Eocene evolution of nummulitid foraminifer Spiroclypeus in the Western Tethys.	303–316
György Less, Ercan Özcan, Cesare A. Papazzoni, and Rudolf Stockar The middle to late Eocene evolution of nummulitid foraminifer Heterostegina in the Western Tethys	317–350
Brief report
Ignacio A. Cerda Gastroliths in an ornithopod dinosaur.	351–355
In memoriam
Magdalena Borsuk-Białynicka and Teresa Maryńska: Halszka Osmólska (1930–2008)	206
