Mariusz A. Salamon, Przemysław Gorzelak, and Michał Zatoń (2010) have presented an interesting discussion of our paper. We would like to thank these authors for bringing the extensive work on crinoid systematics and palaeoecology from Eastern Europe (Pisera and Dzik 1979; Głuchowski 1987; Salamon et al. 2006, 2008; Salamon and Zatoń 2006, 2007; Salamon 2008a, b, c, 2009; Zatoń et al. 2008) to our attention. Some of this important data was inadvertently omitted from, or post–dated the acceptance of, Hunter and Underwood (2009).
